

21 February 2008

BWS Security Systems approached Risco a few months following the En50131 implementation period of October 2005. We had experienced other manufacturer's alleged grade 3 products and concluded they were not up to the performance levels we required.

Risco's representative, Mike Lawrence was invited to present the IWISE product line to us. We were already sold on using an active infra-red device for the anti-masking feature and decided to promote and specify the product. We haven't looked at another detector range since, because we have had no need to.

The company are great to deal with, always accessible and helpful and in my opinion the IWISE range of detectors are second to none. I would highly recommend them.
