

Paul Saunders

Personal Objectives

In my role as Regional Sales Manager I support my customers and prospective customers with technical knowledge of products and standards as well as continue to offer exceptional customer service.

I aim to use the experience I have gained of our range of security products and of the Security industry in general to support my customers so they can offer the best solutions to meet their customer's requirements.

As a company, RISCO Group UK treat customer feedback and product development very seriously, if you have any issues or ideas please share them with us. Feel free to call me any time on 07970 110030, or mail me at paul.saunders@riscogroup.co.uk if you need any more information or would like to make an appointment.
