

Simon Reeve

Personal Profile

Hello and thanks for visiting my own section of RISCO Group's UK website. I am Simon Reeve, the Regional Sales Manager covering the mid east of England and north London regions.

I have been employed within many industries from Alarm Receiving Centres through to Major Vehicle Sales companies and due to having a keen interest in technology I have developed a strong background in technical sales. In March 2002 I joined RISCO Group (formerly GardTec) as a Telesales Operative within the Nottingham Branch and worked with many security companies within the East and West Midlands.

I have also gained experience working for an accredited security company so I can now see the industry from a variety of perspectives.

Throughout my time with RISCO Group I have held the positions of Senior Telesales Operative, New Business Department Manager and now I am able to take that experience on the road in the position of Regional Sales Manager and have demonstrated my success in the North West of England and now I focus within the Midlands and Scotland

Personal Objectives

My aim as one of the team of Regional Sales Managers is to support my customers & prospective customers with technical knowledge of products and standards as well as continuing to offer a high level of service and, more importantly, deliver on all the promises I make.

I am a member of International Sales & Marketing Management (ISMM) and I will attempt to attend all industry related events as I plan to build upon my knowledge and experience to ensure that the service and support I offer you are of a high level of quality.

Please feel free to contact me at any time via any of the methods below:

Call me on: 07970 110021

E-Mail me on: simon.reeve@riscogroup.co.uk